Peace of Mind for Traveling Employees

Business travel is increasingly common in this globalized world. Yet companies are faced with the possibility of incurring substantial expenses due to emergency medical evacuation, lost baggage, flight diversions and other potential difficulties. Tumultuous and sudden changes to political and social landscapes also contribute to the increased risk of business travel.

With companies being liable for their employees' well-being, as well as any additional hotel, living, or alternative traveling expenses, it is now even more crucial for organizations with overseas travel commitments to have adequate corporate travel insurance.

This is where Liberty's BizTraveler can have your company's employees adequately covered. BizTraveler also offers your employees the flexibility to enjoy the same coverage when they extend their work trips for leisure. Whether it's flight disruptions or overseas medical expenses incurred in either business or extended leisure time, Liberty will be here to assist in taking some of the stress and uncertainty out of your employees' business trips.
